Catholic Youth Week Plans Stress Spiritual Activities

Activities in observance of National Catholic Youth Week will begin on CST's campus October 31. Youth Week projects include the daily attendance at Mass and Communion by the student body, a special assembly program, and participation in the National Communion Crusade.

Youth Week plans were suggested by a committee of faculty members, including Rev. William Baum, Rev. Joseph Nadeau, Sister Felice, Sister Marcella Marie, Miss Dorothy Gallagher, and Doctor Bette Moslander. The projects were developed by student representatives from every organization on campus.

During Youth Week, students will be encouraged to attend Mass in their respective parishes. The committee will post information on early Mass-times for the convenience of students who have 8:30 classes.

Wednesday, November 2, Reverend Joseph Nadeau and ten representatives from the student organizations will present a panel discussion, "Youth, Our Hope." The panel will be a special Assembly program at one o'clock. The girls who will participate are: Antoinette Kopp, Mary Ellen O'Hern, Marilyn Lynch, Sharon McQueeny, Sallie Rielley, Mary Ellen Denning, Eleanor Danzo, Ann Burlingame, Pat Ketterlin, and Dixie Gaffney.

The faculty-student committee is studying the proposal that St. Teresa's participate in the National Communion Crusade. This movement, held annually from the Feast of Christ the King through Pentecost Sunday, is intended to increase the spiritual activities of Catholic youth in the United States.

At a planning meeting held October 15, the committee discussed

Eight NF Delegates To Wichita Regional

Eight delegates from St. Teresa's will attend the twenty-third NFCCS Regional Congress. The meeting will be held on October 28-29, at Sacred Heart, Wichita, Kansas.

Those attending are Antoinette Kopp, Senior Delegate; Mary Ellen O'Hern, Junior Delegate; Carolyn Kunz, Regional Mariology Chairman; Margaret Yonke, Literary Chairman; Mary Ellen Denning, CCD Chairman; Eleanor Danzo, Mission Club President; Maureen White secretary of SGA; and Suzie Giblin, treasurer of SGA. Sister Marcella Marie, Literary Moderator, and Sister Rose Agnes, Moderator of the Mariology Commission, will also attend.

NF National President Tom Reinstadtler, from St. Vincent's College, Latrobe, Pennsylvania, will speak. Other features include the Regional Council meeting, Commission meetings, reports from the Fine Arts and Newman Committees, and Moderator's meeting. The members will also set the time and place of the Spring Congress.

Delegates will stay at the Lassen Hotel in Wichita. Antoinette Kopp is in charge of arrangements for those wishing to attend.

the importance of emphasizing Youth Week activities. Antoinette Kopp, NFCCS representative, pointed out, "Catholic youth, united in prayer, can be a potent force for good. The example of all Catholic students working together will reach a greater number than individual efforts can achieve."

Dean Attends Nurses' Conference in Chicago

The dean of the college, Sister M. Alfred, and the Director of the Department of Nursing, Sister M. Fabian, attended the Conference of the Catholic Schools of Nursing. The three-day meeting, October 20-22, was held at the Knickerbocker Hotel, Chicago.

The Conference was under the auspices of the Catholic Hospital Association. The chief problems considered were those concerning the Religious consultants for Schools of Nursing.

During Youth Week, Mass will be celebrated in the Music and Arts Chapel at 7:40 on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. Breakfast will be served afterwards in the cafeteria.

Miss Miller to Play At Student Assembly

Miss Martha Miller, music instructor, will play at the 2:00 p.m. assembly, Monday, October 31. Her twenty-five minute piano recital includes three numbers from Scarlatti: "Sonata," "Gigue," and "Cat Fugue" and the first three fantasy pieces from Schumann's "Kreisleriana."

The College Chorus, directed by Sister Olive Louise, will sing "Yankee Glory" and Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer."

The forty-five minute program will also include a duet from Mozart's "Don Giovanni" sung by Tom Cutler, former Rockhurst student, and Marilyn Hentges, freshman. Marilyn will also sing the Aria from the same opera.

The program will be held in the auditorium in the Music and Arts Building.

Five Seniors Selected For Who's Who Honors

WHO'S WHO: The five seniors selected for this honor are Sharon McQueeny, Gertrude Van Hee, Carolyn Kunz, Margaret Murphy, and Shiloh Maguire (not in picture.)

Out of the present graduating class of forty-seven, five have been selected to appear in Who's Who in American Colleges. Carolyn Kunz, Latin major, Shiloh Maguire, nursing, Sharon McQueeny, English major, Margaret Murphy, theology major, and Gertrude Van Hee, business major, were chosen on the basis of leadership and co-operation by a joint faculty-student committee.

The eight faculty members of the committee appointed by Sister Berenice, president, were Sister Alfred, dean, Sister Grace Louise, Sister Rita Agnes, class moderators, Sister Rose Agnes, Sodality moderator, Sr. Marcella Marie, publications adviser, Sister Georgiana Marie, Mission club moderator, Miss Florence Beck, philosophy teacher, and Sister Marie Vianney, classical language teacher.

Four sophomores and four juniors elects by their respective classes composed the student quorum. The juniors were Paddy Flannery, Pat Ketterlin, Maureen White, and Jean Carol Jacobson, sophomores, Suzanne Giblin, Twila Hegarty, and Mary Ellen O'Hern.

The five girls selected for the Who's Who honor have attended the college for four years and during that time have maintained high scholastic ranking and held key positions in co-curricular organizations.

Carolyn Kunz, a graduate of St. Agnes High School, is at present Prefect of the Sodality. In her sophomore and junior years she was NFCCS junior delegate.

Shiloh Maguire, a graduate of Hogan High School, is president of the Student Government Association for nurses and was president of the class in her freshman and

Rosary Rally Closes Archbishop O'Hara's Jubilee Celebration

Reverend Patrick Peyton will conduct a Family Rosary Rally October 30, at Kansas City's Municipal Stadium. The rally, which begins at three p.m., will be attended by Catholics from all over the Kansas City area.

The occasion of the rally is the triple anniversary being celebrated this year by His Excellency Archbishop Edwin V. O'Hara and the Kansas City Diocese. Archbishop O'Hara celebrates his fiftieth year in the priesthood and his twenty-fifth year as a bishop. This is also the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Diocese of Kansas City.

Student Council Dance

The first semi-formal dance of the season is Saturday night, November 26. It is the Student Council Thanksgiving dance and will be at Drexel Hall.

Music will be furnished by Earl Coleman and his orchestra. Bids are $1.25. Chairman Gertie Van Hee says that friends of CST students may attend.

The dance is from 9 to 12, with refreshments of cider and cookies.

Archbishop O'Hara has chosen the Family Rosary Crusade as a focal point of this anniversary year because of his long-standing interest in the rosary as a family prayer. At the inauguration of Father Peyton's Family Rosary Crusade, the Archbishop pledged to the project the support of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, of which he was Episcopal chairman.

Father Peyton, an Irish Holy Cross priest, has furthered the Rosary Crusade here and abroad through radio, television, motion pictures, books, and personal appearances. In recent weeks, he has spoken at several Rosary Rallies in the Kansas City area. On October 22 he spoke to the Catholic school teachers at St. Teresa's.

Father Peyton's devotion to the Family Rosary is the result of his remarkable recovery from tuberculosis in 1939. In thanksgiving that his prayers were answered, Father has dedicated his life to the encouragement of family prayer.

Father Peyton recently returned from a tour of Africa, where he spoke to over 1,000,000 people at Rosary Crusade rallies. He stated that he is convinced many of the world's problems are the result of lack of unity in family life. Father's solution is, "The family that stays together prays together."

Marian Congress To Be On Campus

St. Teresa campus will be the site of the annual congress of the regional Mariology Commission, Sunday, November 13. Approximately 75 delegates from seven visiting colleges are expected to attend. Colleges sending delegates are: St. Benedict's and Mount St. Scholastica, Atchison; Marymount, Salina; St. Mary of the Plains, Dodge City; Ursuline, Paola; Fontbonne, St. Louis, and St. Mary, Xavier.

Carolyn Kunz, Sodality Prefect and Regional Commission Chairman, is in charge of the program. Sister Rose Agnes, Sodality Moderator at the college, has helped plan the program.

The day will begin with 8:30 Mass, celebrated by Reverend Hilary Heim, O.S.B., in the chapel of the Music and Arts Building. Father Heim is chaplain of the NF region.

Following breakfast, four colleges will present papers on the general theme of Mary's virginity and the divine maternity. Topics are: "Do We Adore the Blessed Virgin?" Marymount College; "Mary's Virginity Before and During the Birth of Christ," Ursuline; "Mary's Virginity After the Birth of Christ," Mount St. Scholastica; "Virginity in the Modern World," Fontbonne.

Reverend Joseph Nadeau, O. P., chaplain at St. Teresa's, will present a summary paper. The assembly will then divide into discussion groups.

Luncheon will be served in the cafeteria.

Included in the afternoon program will be group of Marian hymns sung by the college chorus under the direction of Sister Olive Louise. Seminarians from St. Benedict's College will chant the Litany of Our Lady. The day will close with Benediction in the auditorium of Music and Arts.

Sharon McQueeny, a graduate of St. Teresa's Academy, has been editor of The Teresian her sophomore, junior, and senior years, a member of the editorial staff of The Golden Echo for four years, and is the representative for the press club on the Student Council.

Margaret Ann Murphy, a graduate of St. Teresa's Academy, is vice-president of the Student Council. She was class secretary her sophomore year and also president of CCD. In her junior year Margaret was class president.

Gertrude Van Hee, a graduate of Hogan High School, is president of the Student Government Association. She was the student council representative her freshman year, and student council secretary her junior year.

President Endorses Youth Week

The Right Reverend Monsignor Joseph E. Schieder
Director, Youth Department
National Catholic Welfare Conference
1312 Massachusetts Avenue, N. W.
Washington 5, D. C.

Dear Monsignor Schieder:

Please extend my greeting to all who will join in the fifth anniversary observance of National Catholic Youth Week.

I am glad to know that this observance will focus attention on young people — on their talents, abilities, and resources, their capacity for good, their importance as citizens. I congratulate you on the theme, "Youth - Our Hope," and send to all of you my best wishes for a program which, by inspiring young men and women to develop the best that is in them, will help them enrich their own lives and contribute to the advancement of their communities and their country.

Sincerely,
Dwight Eisenhower

Not In Banners Only

For five years one special week beginning on the feast of Christ the King and ending seven days later has been set apart and labeled "Catholic Youth Week". Is this going to be like some fifty-one other special weeks to be celebrated with slogans and banners? And as the last poster is put away will the weary planning committee breathe a restful sigh of, "Well, that's over"?

No, let's make Catholic Youth Week different. When the posters are down and the slogans forgotten our work begins—the job of encouraging and displaying our capabilities. Both ecclesiastical and civil authorities have given their endorsement to these seven special days. The Holy Father has granted indulgences for the particular prayers. Mayors and governors have realized the necessity of the movement; and President Eisenhower, recognizing the importance of Catholic Youth Week, has made provision for the youth in military service to join in the observances.

The feast of Christ the King also marks the opening of the National Catholic Youth Communion Crusade. Running until Pentecost this Crusade carries the theme of Youth Week throughout the year—"Catholic Youth—Our Hope." Youth Week has set the spark and the flame is fed by the Communion Crusade—the growing awareness that in this unsettled time youth is our hope for a better future. But it is not a youth that celebrates with banners, slogans, and brass. It is not a youth that breathes a relieved sigh when the notes die away and the posters are torn down. It is a Christian youth nourished and strengthened by the blood of Christ in the Eucharist.

Clubs and Classes

SODALITY: Carolyn Kunz, Sodality Prefect, reports that attendance at the Second Wednesday Mass has been very good. The Sodality's most recent project is encouraging recitation of the Grace before and after meals in the cafeteria.

CONFRATERNITY: The Apostles of Good Will visited Marygrove High School for a social meeting October 23. This goodwill visiting will be a monthly project for that division. The Teacher's Division reports an enrollment of eight in the Teacher's Techniques course, which is held each Thursday at 2 o'clock. The Helpers Division members are accompanying crippled children to religious instruction at Cathedral every Saturday Morning. October 27 the Discussion Club Division members met at Jean Carol Jacobson's to conduct a mock Discussion Club meeting.

DRAMA CLUB: Cinderella will be presented November 9 through 12 in the Music and Arts Auditorium. A special evening performance will be given November 11, at 8 p.m. Club project for the month will be to attend several plays as a group.

MISSION CLUB: "To Acquaint the Student with Africa" was the purpose of Mission Assembly panel October 24. Wednesday as Mission prayer day is being emphasized by club members this month.

LITERARY CLUB: Lit Club's first meeting will be November 4 at 7:30 p.m. Subject of the discussion will be the late poet, Dylan Thomas. Articles on Thomas which have appeared in the last two issues of Atlantic Monthly will be the Club's text.

PEP CLUB: This year the Pep Club has adopted uniforms, consisting of long-sleeved white sweaters bearing a blue "R" and navy blue skirts. Campus officers of the club are Dixie Gaffney, secretary, and Sheila Stacy, treasurer. Rockhurst officers are Roger Staate, president, and Don Klein, vice-president. Cheerleaders for the Pep Club will be elected in the Middle of November, after the season's first basketball game.

PRESS CLUB: Antoinette Kopp and Margaret Yonke represented CST at a regional Catholic Press meeting at St. Mary College, Xavier. Antoinette was chairman of the college panel at which Margaret discussed literary content of college newspapers.

I SUPPOSE THIS MEANS I FAIL?

ALL I SAID WAS, "SISTER, DO WE GET TO WRITE A TERM PAPER?"

Here And There

A Little Learning . . .

Some sophomores are happy—they can now (thanks to cosmology) stare into space and not have that blank look. They know what it is they're staring into.

Degas and All of That . . .

Intermediate French students spent a class period recently describing their homes. They all proved unusually similar—except one. This was a living room with five chairs, one in each corner. Rather pentacular!

It's in the Point of View . . .

It has been suggested that the girls' volley ball team play sitting down, since so many end up that way anyhow.

As Others See Us . . .

We were recently told by an authority that our paper reflected our type of school, no "screaming headlines." It was, so the critic added, "in keeping with the personality of a school of 200 odd girls."

While attending the news-writing section of the M. U. workshop recently, two Teresians spent one day in the courts of Columbia listening in on a chicken-theft trial. And they covered the trial too in the top five W fashion, including the weight of the hen abducted. "Teresian news is dull," they tell us. (And it's all because no one steals any chickens to give our press a break.)

Thirty-eight CST girls ushered at the Tenth Anniversary U. N. celebration, October 24. Harry S. Truman, former president, was guest speaker. The party was held in the World War II Memorial Building, Linwood and Paseo. And it was the Mayor and his committee who selected the ushers for the affair.

Queen at the Ticker-Tape Ball

Margaret Murphy, senior, will reign as queen of the Commerce Ball at Notre Dame University, on November 11. The Ball is an annual affair sponsored by the School of Commerce of the University. This year's theme, Ticker Tape Ball, will be carried out in the Stock Market tradition. Other highlights of Margaret's week-end will include parties and tours of the campus. She will be escorted to the dance by Jerry Higgins, general chairman.

MUSIC CLUB: At its last meeting, October 21, the Club elected Marilyn Lynch, junior music major, president. Elected to assist Marilyn in her duties were Mary Lou Palermo, vice-president, and Dana Merli, secretary-treasurer. Marilyn was vice-president of the club last year. Outgoing officers are Gertie Van Hee, president, and Pat Ketterlin, secretary-treasurer.

K. C. Athletics Fan on Faculty

On a cold, silent November afternoon last year a Sister was earnestly and fervently praying in the college chapel.

If someone noticed her they probably thought that she was praying for a sick friend or for a loved one who had died. They had no idea that the reason for this sister's very, very pious supplication was . . . 1800 lbs. of muscle and brawn. She was saying "Please, please let Kansas City get the Athletics Ball Club!"

Now almost a year later in a celluloid case next to a statue of the Sacred Heart on the big mahogany desk in the Math room sits an autographed baseball bearing such names as Lou Boudreau, Bobby Shantz, Jim Finnigan and the other Athletic players.

Who is the proud owner of this

Sine Qua Non

"I have a little shadow that goes in and out with me,

And what can be the use of him is more than I can see," said Stevenson.

But I don't agree with this individual.

For he should realize that the use of shadows is an old established ritual.

For what would go behind us to keep Track of us?

And what would go in front of us to show us that there is a light on

In back of us?

Just think of all those mystery Stories with nobody being shadowed;

And think of all those English Stories with no climaxes being foreshadowed—

And who could be a shadow of Their former self, If they didn't have a former shadow

Tucked away on a closet shelf?

What would fall in the evening

If the shadows didn't?

And on the radio who would know The answers if the Shadow didn't? Contemplate the certainty we would be without,

If things could not be known without the Shadow of a doubt . . .

baseball? Of course, it's the same person who prayed so hard for Kansas City to get a big league ball team . . . CST's head of the Math department, Sister Pachomia.

Sister Pachomia will tell you herself that her extra curricular activity is BASEBALL.

Last year at Easter time Sister had a serious operation. She claims one of the things that speeded her recovery was a visitor that Father Lyons brought her. It was Jim Finnigan, her favorite Kansas City Athletics player.

Everyone knows what a baseball enthusiast Sister is. Her numerous gifts of photographs and autographed pictures testify to this. But her biggest thrill came two weeks ago when Mrs. Kiburz and Mr. Samuel Case gave her the baseball that the KC A's had autographed especially "for the Sister at 56th and Main, who really rooted for them this season."

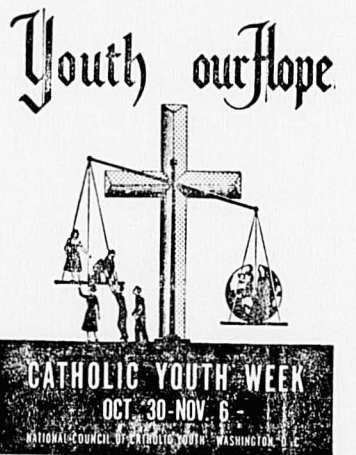

When they signed that baseball they really made a good investment because Sister says, "I say a little prayer each night for each one that signed the ball!" And she adds, "Who knows, if Brooklyn can win the pennant, anyone can, even "my" Athletics!"

Sr. Gonzaga in Hospital

Sister M. Gonzaga has been ill at St. Joseph's Hospital for the past three weeks. Staff members especially missed Sister's usual Alumnae contributions to the October Teresian.

To most of the students Sister Gonzaga is known as the "little Sister at the switchboard."

The faculty and students are praying for Sister's quick recovery and return to CST.

Stage Is Set For Fall Production; 'Cinderella' To Play For Four Days

For the past eight years the Drama Department has presented a children's play each fall. This year on November 9-12, Cinderella will be played to about 1200 parochial school children.

"And since even grown-ups like a fairy tale," Sister Felice says, "we're adding a night performance on Friday, November 11, at 8:00." The afternoon performances begin at 2:00 and the play lasts about an hour and a half.

Of all the fairy tales, Cinderella is a favorite. And of the many stories dramatized on the CST stage including The Elves and the Shoemaker, Hansel and Gretel, Rumpelstiltskin, Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp, and The Prince and the Pauper, the little cinder girl is the child audience's first choice. For this reason Sister Felice has decided to bring the play back once more, using Frances Homer's version. This particular story provides Cinderella with a very understanding and clever cat, Ashes.

Seven years ago when the Department was performing Cinderella, Alyce Marie Schmidt, who is now a freshman and playing the role of the step-mother, was in the audience. At that time she was in the fifth grade at Redemptorist. "I still remember the play very vividly and especially Ashes the cat," she told Sister Felice when she learned that the play was to be given again.

Other cast members in the present production are Twila Hegarty, sophomore, who plays Cinderella, and Rita McGrann, CAT-NAPPING AND DAY-DREAMING : Ashes the Cat and Cinderella dream of the Prince's Ball. Rita McGrann plays the part of Ashes; Twila Hegarty, that of Cinderella in the production scheduled for November 9-12, at 2:00 p.m.

senior, as Ashes. Sallie Rielley, junior, is the Prince. Marilyn Hentges plays the part of Tilielle, a mean step-sister, and Mary McQueeney plays Gladiola, the other mean sister. Carol Smith is the King and Eileen Tobin, the Queen. Biff, the Court Jester, is played by Georgeann McAdams; the Fairy Godmother, by Ann Craig; and the Princess in Gold by Ann Yonke. The King's Pages are Beverly Raynor and Marilyn Kram. These latter are all freshmen.

Although the play has been given before on CST's stage, the scenery and costuming will be new. Marilyn Kram, special student who attended the Art Institute last year, has designed a new set and is doing most of the painting herself.

Cast members do double duty in back stage work. Eileen Tobin and Georgeann McAdams are on sound effects; Beverly Raynor, costumes; Alyce Marie Schmidt and Ann Yonke, properties; Charlene Mathews and Susan Price, lighting.

CCD Reorganizes; Six New Groups

The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine has reorganized its campus unit into six individual divisions. These are; the Fishers Division, Discussion Club Division, Helpers Division, Apostles of Good Will Division and Parent-Educators Division. The new arrangement of individual meetings is designed to facilitate a better functioning of each group.

The third Tuesday of the month has been set aside for the CCD campus meetings.

Officers under the direction of Sister Agnes Josephine and Dr. Bette Moslander have planned the division activities. Mary Ellen Denning, senior, is president; Jeanne Coleman, sophomore, vice-president; Mary Eileen O'Donnell, sophomore, treasurer, and Mary Jo Jedlica, sophomore, treasurer.

Besides division activities, this group is also handling publication of "The Burning Flame", a weekly newsletter. The October 17 assembly, which featured Reverend Rodney Crewse, diocesan CCD Moderator, as guest speaker was another CCD activity.

In addition to four officers, six

Freshmen Select Academy Graduate As Class President

The freshmen have elected Charlene Mathews, a graduate of St. Teresa's Academy, class president. Charlene was elected on the first ballot by a large majority, receiving almost 50% of the 85 votes cast.

Ann Craig, from Loretto Academy, was elected vice-president. And Carol Smith, from Ward High, Kansas City, Kansas, was elected treasurer.

A new secretary will be chosen at the November class meeting to replace Nancy Kinsey, who has withdrawn from school.

Maureen Murphy, from St. Teresa's Academy, was elected Freshman Student Council representative.

Both Charlene and Ann were temporary officers prior to the election this month.

girls act as division chairmen. They are, Terrie Mayer, Sharon McQueeney, and Mary Lou Lambert, seniors; Eleanor Danzo, Mary Ross, juniors; and Mary Ellen O'Hern sophomore.

College Librarian To Atchison Meeting

Sister M. Liguori, college librarian, and Sister M. Clarice, academy librarian, attended the regional Catholic Library Association meeting in Atchison. The meeting was held at St. Benedict's on October 29.

Three other meetings that faculty members will attend are: State Teachers' Convention, November 2, St. Louis, Missouri; Missouri Union Fund Incorporated, November 4, Lindenwood College, St. Charles; Adult Education, November 11, St. Louis.

The Sisters who will attend these meetings have not yet been appointed.

College Will Be Host To Fontbonne Council

The Fontbonne and CST Student Councils will get together here on November 11, 12, 13.

The tradition was begun in the spring of '53 to give the Councils a chance to discuss common problems and solutions and to build a strong friendship between the leaders of the two Sister Colleges.

The joint meeting is held alternately at Fontbonne in St. Louis and St. Teresa's each year. This year it has been moved from April to November as both Councils agreed that more benefits might be derived from having a longer time to put ideas gained into action.

The Fontbonne girls will arrive Friday evening and stay until Sunday afternoon. On the agenda for the week-end are meetings, parties, and a banquet. Both groups will spend Sunday at the regional Marian Day here on campus.

Guild Sponsors Tea For Faculty, Parents

The first social activity of the year for the Mother's Guild was a tea, October 16. Two faculty lines, one of the academy and the other of the college, formed in the Donnelly Hall. Parents of the students of both groups were given an opportunity to meet the instructors of their daughters.

Many of the mothers and fathers came provided with lists of the subjects their daughters are taking with the teacher's name of each subject.

After the parents had met and talked to the teachers they went to the lounge where tea was served by Guild officers. Mrs. Richard Ong is president of the organization; Mrs. Floyd Day, first vice president; Mrs. C. C. Mayer, second vice president.

The Guild will hold its first luncheon and card party in the cafeteria November 2. Mrs. Floyd Day is the social chairman.

Sister Edwina Dies; Nuns Sing Requiem

Sister Edwina Tobin, fifty-four years a Sister of St. Joseph, died October 18 after a prolonged illness.

Born in Kansas City, Sister Edwina taught at Fontbonne college in St. Louis for twenty years before coming to St. Teresa's six years ago.

Sister had classes in Latin and Greek in both the Academy and the College.

Funeral Services were held at Visitation Church. Father J. Pecoraro said the Mass and the Sister's choir sang the Requiem. Father Nadeau delivered the sermon.

Two of Sister Edwina's religious reception, Sister Huberta of St. Joseph's Orphan Home and Sister Gilberta, assistant librarian at the college, acted as honorary pallbearers along with Sister Winifred, superior of St. Joseph's Home, Sister Patricia, superior of Redemptorist, Sister Rose Agnes from the college, and Sister Clare Vincent from St. Joseph's Hospital.

So That's Where It Is...

STUDYING PLACES AND PEOPLES is part of the practice-teacher's program. Donna Spivey looks on skeptically as Margie Hogan attempts to find Kansas City. Donna is doing her practice teaching in art at Westport High School. Margie is teaching first and second grade at Bancroft Grade School.

The Prettiest Baby Brother

Donna Ross, freshman, is the Teresian with the prettiest baby brother. The baby picture received the greatest number of penny votes in the Junior Class' recent contest. Juniors made twelve dollars on the contest, which will go into their treasury to help finance the prom.

As an adjunct to the baby contest, the Junior Class sponsored a mixer October 21. The mixer netted forty dollars for the prom.

The winner of the Baby Contest received a lollipop as a prize. This may not be quite appropriate, as nearly nineteen years have elapsed since Donna's brother's baby picture was made.

R. NORMAN CROWLEY

Call JA. 4781

Of late, several girls have suggested to our philosophy teachers that Socrates was killed by his student, Hemlock. Now, a statement like this requires the steel nerve and the poker face. I admire the girls who said it, and wish I had said it myself, even though the statement is incorrect.

I could say, "The Epistles were the students of the Apostle," and everyone would recognize the inaccuracy. I could say "Homer's pupils were Idiot and Oddity," and they would know I was kidding. But this Hemlock business is more subtle. The modern child, at his mother's knee, learns next to nothing about the real historical Hemlock, so that these erroneous ideas of him go frequently unchecked. Thus the cry echoes round CST, "Socrates is dead and it was his student Hemlock what done him in."

Hemlock Poisons Socrates

Hemlock was not a student of Socrates, and their set-to in Athens jail was not a result of curricular differences. Nor is Hemlock to be confused with the protagonist of Shakespeare's tragedy, Hemlock, Prince of Demlock. All Hemlock really did was to poison Socrates, a mere casual acquaintance. That is his sole claim to greatness.

Webster's Dictionary calls Hemlock "a poisonous, umbelliferous Herb." Now, Mr. Webster is ordinarily a soft-spoken man with a punctilious regard for le mot juste. When Webster calls anybody a poisonous, umbelliferous Herb, not even the sunniest optimist can construe it as a compliment. He may just as well tear up his Civil Service exam and forget about ever being President, because he is pretty well sunk. From this we may gather that Hemlock was just the sort of fellow who would finish off poor old Socrates.

Hemlock and his brothers were all Herbs, but early in life they moved to Greece. (Herbs are not to be confused with Serbs, and they're not the same thing at all.) There were four of them: Hemlock, Wedlock, Hammerlock, and Yale. Socrates had trouble with the first two, but got along fine with Hammer and Yale.

No Ordinary Child

As a child, Hemlock was a solitary, thoughtful lad who did not care to run and play with the other boys. He preferred the more serious pursuits of life, and spent his golden childhood hours poisoning dogs and slaves and people. This absence of frivolity was eventually rewarded, though, as Hemlock got a job with the Athens jailhouse as Executioner. Hemlock liked the work, and the government found he was cheaper than buying an electric chair or installing a gas-chamber.

The day Hemlock met Socrates in the jail, he little realized that the man would one day make him famous. To us, Socrates is a major drawing-card in any History of Ancient Philosophy; to Hemlock, he was just part of the day's work. Impervious to the cold glances of friends and former students, Hemlock stepped into the cell; he seen his duty and he done it. And that was that.

Hemlock worked at Athens jail until the poisoning business hit the skids. He then resigned and joined a wholesaling firm called Lock, Stock, & Barrel. Little is known of his subsequent activities, except

It's A Nuisance To Be A Muse

Having been in rehearsal now for two weeks, I have come to the conclusion that I like being an Hour of the Night much better than being Miss T. Muse. It's not that I really mind being a Muse, it's just that Musing presents certain problems. Muses are supposed to be musical. Music is intended to lift up the spirit of man, to inspire him, to make him feel like starting out anew. And musical Muses can do all this without any trouble. But what are you going to do with a Muse that can't carry a tune? An unmusical Muse is uninspiring, painful in fact.

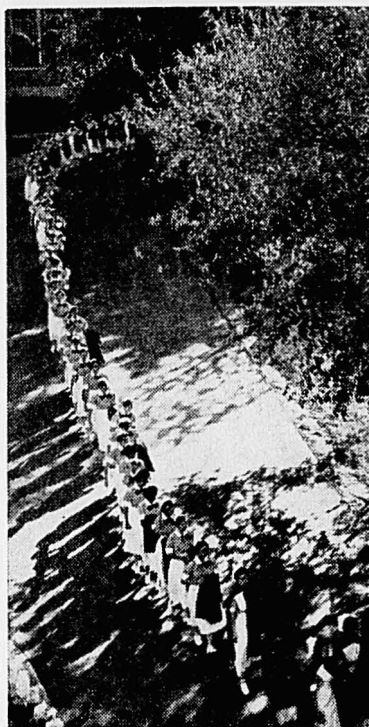

My two CST colleagues in the Rockhurst College production of Skin of Our Teeth, to be presented December 2, 3 and 4, have no such problems. Mary Jo Randall does an effective job in the role of Sabina and Rita McGrann is quite capable in her portrayal of Mrs. Anthrobus. In this misery I have no company.

Yet, I'm not a complete failure. I don't do badly at all on "Jingle Bells." In fact I'm rather good at that one. It's one skill I've acquired through years of patiently attending grammar school, high school, and college Christmas parties. But I just can't seem to learn "Tenting Tonight"! I've never been a girl scout. Of course I don't have to sing alone. I have the ready assistance of Moses, Homer, and an unidentified Doctor. Moses not only reads music, he can carry a tune. Homer sings too, so maybe if I move my lips and look muse-ical, I'll get by on the skin of my teeth.

that as he and his brothers got older, they died. They were called Deadlocks, and the term has endured to this day.

Father Arthur Tighe celebrated the Mass in honor of St. Teresa of Avila, patroness of the school.

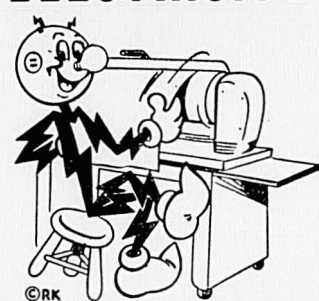

Immediately following Mass a brunch was served in the cafeteria. Father Tighe spoke to the girls about St. Teresa, the Little Flower, who used "big" St. Teresa, patroness of the College, as her model and became a saint.

At 1:00 p.m. the parade began. The theme was "SHE GOES TO ST. TERESA'S AND . . ." The Freshman Class won the first place, finishing the slogan with "PARTICIPATES IN SPEECH AND DRAMA." They carried out the Cinderella theme, giving the highlights of the story on 23 cars.

The parade was over by 3:00 p.m. and the 275 students returned to the cafeteria for an ice-cream treat. Sister Berenice, president, then announced the decision of the judges and presented Charlene Mathews, class president of the freshmen, with a twenty-five dollar check for their treasury.

The Sisters, too, were remembered in the festivities. Gertie Van Hee, Student Council President, presented ice cream and angel food cake for a supper treat in the name of the Student Body.
